

Scarlet Rosemallow

Hibiscus coccineus

A good ditch plant, this plant produces red flowers with five petals, giving it its other name Red Texas Star Hibiscus. This plant thrives in boggy conditions that would kill most other plants. Leaves are palmately divided, and this often gets this plant mistaken for marijuana. Butterflies and hummingbirds love this plant. Fairly pest resistant, young plants may be nibbled by deer.

- Perennial
- Grows 3-6 feet
- Found in swamps, marshes, stream banks

Jan	Feb	Mar	Apr	May	June	July	Aug	Sept	Oct	Nov	Dec
-----	-----	-----	-----	-----	------	------	-----	------	-----	-----	-----

Flowering Time